

Community Psychiatry PRIDE

Program for Research in Implementation & Dissemination of Evidence-Based Treatments

HARVARD
MEDICAL SCHOOL

MASSACHUSETTS
GENERAL HOSPITAL

Community Psychiatry PRIDE
Department of Psychiatry
Massachusetts General Hospital/Harvard Medical School
70 Everett Ave., Suite 516
Chelsea, MA 02150
(617) 887-4063

Community Psychiatry PRIDE is a dissemination and implementation research lab that has a special focus on reducing mental health disparities among racially and ethnically diverse individuals. Much of our work takes place in the Chelsea community, which has significant immigrant, refugee and impoverished populations. The overarching mission of PRIDE is to bridge the gap between science and practice by bringing evidence-based treatments to the communities with the greatest need.

PRIDE exists at a unique intersection between research and practice. We are currently seeking a small team of volunteer research assistants for a 10-week internship program during summer 2017. As an intern, your work has the potential to support the reduction of health disparities across Massachusetts and beyond. You will work with Dr. Luana Marques, as well as with the clinical research team in the day-to-day operations and maintenance of the lab. Intern activities include, but are not limited to:

- Conducting and summarizing extensive and ongoing literature reviews for project development
- Bibliographical support for publications
- Data entry and analysis using a variety of statistical software packages
- Developing and utilizing analytic codebooks
- Assisting with Institutional Review Board (IRB) proposals, including designing consent forms, information sheets, and other related project documents
- Assisting with grant proposal preparation

Applicants should have an interest in pursuing a graduate degree in clinical psychology, psychiatry, or public health. Spanish-speaking applicants are encouraged. Applicants should demonstrate outstanding academic achievement. Our program emphasizes mentorship, and opportunities for professional training and career development are integrated into the position.

This position requires a full-time commitment of 40 hours per week. Office hours are 9:00am to 5:00pm. The start date of the internship is June 5, 2017 and will last 10 weeks, with the final day being August 11, 2017. The start date is NOT flexible. Interns will work as volunteers and must be able to travel to our office in Chelsea. To apply, please send a copy of your unofficial transcript, your resume/CV, and any questions to Kaylie Patrick, Program Manager (kpattick6@mg.harvard.edu) no later than April 7, 2017.